ERRORS

118 internal links are broken

About this issue: Broken internal links lead users from one webpage to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded. Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken.

Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website. How to fix: Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource.

If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.

64 internal images are broken

About this issue: An internal broken image is an image that can't be displayed because it no longer exists, its URL is misspelled, or because the file path is not valid. Broken images may jeopardize your search rankings because they provide a poor user experience and signal to search engines that your page is low quality. How to fix: To fix a broken internal image, perform one of the following: 1.

If an image is no longer located in the same location, change its URL. 2. If an image was deleted or damaged, replace it with a new one.

3. If an image is no longer needed, simply remove it from your page's code.

30 issues with broken internal JavaScript and CSS files

About this issue: A broken JavaScript or CSS file is an issue that should be watched out for on your website. Any script that has stopped running on your website may jeopardize your rankings, since search engines will not be able to properly render and index your webpages. Moreover, broken JS and CSS files may cause website errors, and this will certainly spoil your user experience.

How to fix: Review all broken JavaScript and CSS files hosted on your website and fix any issues.

13 pages returned 4XX status code

About this issue: A 4xx error means that a webpage cannot be accessed. This is usually the result of broken links. These errors prevent users and search engine robots from accessing your webpages, and can negatively affect both user experience and search engine crawlability.

This will in turn lead to a drop in traffic driven to your website. Please be aware that crawler may detect a working link as broken if your website blocks our crawler from accessing it.

This usually happens due to the following reasons: 1.

DDoS protection system. 2. Overloaded or misconfigured server.

How to fix: If a webpage returns an error, remove all links leading to the error page or replace it with another resource. To identify all pages on your website that contain links to a 4xx page, click "View broken links" next to the error page. If the links reported as 4xx do work when accessed with a browser, you can try either of the following: 1.

Contact your web hosting support team. 2. Instruct search engine robots not to crawl your website too frequently by specifying the "crawl-delay" directive in your robots.txt.

5 structured data items are invalid

About this issue: This issue is triggered if structured data items contain fields that do not meet Google's guidelines <https://developers.google.com/search/docs/data-types/article>. Implementing and maintaining your structured data correctly is important if you want to get an edge over your competitors in search results. If your website markup has errors, crawlers will not be able to properly understand it, and you may run the risk of losing the chance of gaining rich snippets and getting more favorable rankings.

For more information on the structured data requirements, see <https://schema.org>, Google documentation <https://developers.google.com/search/docs/data-types/article> or our article <https://www.semrush.com/kb/1084-structured-data-items-site-audit>. How to fix: Check structured data on your webpages with a validation tool. Please note that different markup testing tools may show different results.

We recommend that you use the Rich Results Test tool <https://search.google.com/test/rich-results> to review and validate your pages' structured data against their rich snippet requirements.

3 hreflang conflicts within page source code

About this issue: If you're running a multilingual website, it is necessary to help users from other countries find your content in the language that is most appropriate for them. This is where the hreflang (`rel="alternate" hreflang="x"`) attribute comes in handy. This attribute helps search engines understand which page should be shown to visitors based on their location.

It is very important to properly synchronize your hreflang attributes within your page's source code, otherwise you may experience unexpected search engine behavior. For more information, see this article <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/189077?hl=en>. How to fix: To avoid any conflicts, we recommend that you review your hreflang attributes within your page's source code and fix any of the following issues:

1. Conflicting hreflang and rel=canonical URLs.
  2. Conflicting hreflang URLs.
  3. No self-referencing hreflang URLs.

2 issues with duplicate title tags

About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate title tags only if they are exact matches. Duplicate `<title>` tags make it difficult for search engines to determine which of a website's pages is relevant for a specific search query, and which one should be prioritized in search results. Pages with duplicate titles have a lower chance of ranking well and are at risk of being banned.

Moreover, identical `<title>` tags confuse users as to which webpage they should follow. How to fix: Provide a unique and concise title for each of your pages that contains your most important keywords. For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>.

2 pages have duplicate content issues

About this issue: Webpages are considered duplicates if their content is 85% identical. Having duplicate content may significantly affect your SEO performance. First of all, Google will typically show only one duplicate page, filtering other instances out of its index and search results, and this page may not be the one you want to rank. In some cases, search engines may consider duplicate pages as an attempt to manipulate search engine rankings and, as a result, your website may be downgraded or even banned from search results. Moreover, duplicate pages may dilute your link profile. How to fix: Here are a few ways to fix duplicate content issues: 1. Add a rel="canonical" link to one of your duplicate pages to inform search engines which page to show in search results. 2. Use a 301 redirect from a duplicate page to the original one. 3. Use a rel="next" and a rel="prev" link attribute to fix pagination duplicates. 4. Instruct GoogleBot to handle URL parameters differently using Google Search Console. 5. Provide some unique content on the webpage. For more information, please read these articles: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/66359?hl=en> and <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/139066?hl=en>.

2 pages have duplicate meta descriptions

About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate meta descriptions only if they are exact matches. A <meta description> tag is a short summary of a webpage's content that helps search engines understand what the page is about and can be shown to users in search results. Duplicate meta descriptions on different pages mean a lost opportunity to use more relevant keywords. Also, duplicate meta descriptions make it difficult for search engines and users to differentiate between different webpages. It is better to have no meta description at all than to have a duplicate one. How to fix: Provide a unique, relevant meta description for each of your webpages. For information on how to create effective meta descriptions, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>.

Robots.txt file has format errors

About this issue: If your robots.txt file is poorly configured, it can cause you a lot of problems. Webpages that you want to be promoted in search results may not be indexed by search engines, while some of your private content may be exposed to users. So, one configuration mistake can damage your search rankings, ruining all your search engine optimization efforts. How to fix: Review your robots.txt file and fix all errors, if there are any. You can check your file using Google's robots.txt Tester: <https://www.google.com/webmasters/tools/robots-testing-tool>. For information on how to configure your robots.txt, please see this article: https://developers.google.com/webmasters/control-crawl-index/docs/robots\_txt.

1 incorrect page found in sitemap.xml

About this issue: A sitemap.xml file makes it easier for crawlers to discover the pages on your website. Only good pages intended for your visitors should be included in your sitemap.xml file. This error is triggered if your sitemap.xml contains URLs that: 1. lead to webpages with the same content. 2. redirect to a different webpage. 3. return non-200 status code. Populating your file with such URLs will confuse search engines, cause unnecessary crawling or may even result in your sitemap being rejected. How to fix: Review your sitemap.xml for any redirected, non-canonical or non-200 URLs. Provide the final destination URLs that are canonical and return a 200 status code.

WARNINGS*302 0218 issues with unminified JavaScript and CSS files

About this issue: Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space and comments from the source code. Minifying JavaScript and CSS files makes their size smaller, thereby decreasing your page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>.

How to fix: Minify your JavaScript and CSS files. If your webpage uses CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to minify their files. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

218 031 pages have low text-HTML ratio

About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content.

That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster.

How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

31 021 pages have a low word count

About this issue: This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200. The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines. Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts.

For more information, please view this video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w3-obcXkyA4>. How to fix: Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.

21 015 pages have duplicate H1 and title tags

About this issue: It is a bad idea to duplicate your title tag content in your first-level header. If your page's <title> and <h1> tags match, the latter may appear over-optimized to search engines. Also, using the same content in titles and headers means a lost opportunity to incorporate other relevant keywords for your page.

For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to create different content for your <title> and <h1> tags.

12 pages have too much text within the title tags

About this issue: Most search engines truncate titles containing more than 70 characters. Incomplete and shortened titles look unappealing to users and won't entice them to click on your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to rewrite your page titles to be 70 characters or less.

2 issues with uncompressed JavaScript and CSS files

About this issue: This issue is triggered if compression is not enabled in the HTTP response. Compressing JavaScript and CSS files significantly reduces their size as well as the overall size of your webpage, thus improving your page load time. Uncompressed JavaScript and CSS files make your page load slower, which negatively affects user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings.
If your webpage uses uncompressed CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, you should make sure they do not affect your page's load time. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>. How to fix: Enable compression for your JavaScript and CSS files on your server. If your webpage uses uncompressed CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to enable compression on their server. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

1 page doesn't have enough text within the title tags

About this issue: Generally, using short titles on webpages is a recommended practice. However, keep in mind that titles containing 10 characters or less do not provide enough information about what your webpage is about and limit your page's potential to show up in search results for different keywords. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>.

How to fix: Add more descriptive text inside your page's <title> tag.

1 page doesn't have an h1 heading

About this issue: While less important than <title> tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an <h1> tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an <h1> tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly.
How to fix: Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.

1 page doesn't have a meta description

About this issue: Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users.

For more information, please see these article: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.

1 page has more than one H1 tag

About this issue: Although multiple `<h1>` tags are allowed in HTML5, we still do not recommend that you use more than one `<h1>` tag per page. Including multiple `<h1>` tags may confuse users. How to fix: Use multiple `<h2>-<h6>` tags instead of an `<h1>`.

1 page is blocked from crawling

About this issue: If a page cannot be accessed by search engines, it will never appear in search results. A page can be blocked from crawling either by a robots.txt file or a noindex meta tag. How to fix: Make sure that pages with valuable content are not blocked from crawling by mistake.

1 page has only one incoming internal link

About this issue: Having few incoming internal links means little to no visits or chances of being placed in search results. AI search engines use internal linking patterns to understand content importance and relationships within your site's knowledge network. Pages with few internal links may look less authoritative to AI algorithms and reduce your content's visibility and citation potential.

How to fix: Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.

Broken internal images

- i About this issue: An internal broken image is an image that can't be displayed because its URL is misspelled, or because the file path is not valid. Broken images may jeopardize your search rankings because they provide a poor user experience and signal to search engines that your page is low quality. How to fix: To fix a broken internal image, perform one of the following: 1. If an image is no longer located in the same location, change its URL. 2. If an image was deleted or damaged, replace it with a new one. 3. If an image is no longer needed, simply remove it from your page's code

Broken internal JavaScript and CSS files

i About this issue: A broken JavaScript or CSS file is an issue that should be watched out for on your website. Any script that has stopped running on your website may jeopardize your rankings, since search engines will not be able to properly render and index your webpages. Moreover, broken JS and CSS files may cause website errors, and this will certainly spoil your user experience. How to fix: Review all broken JavaScript and CSS files hosted on your website and fix any issues.

4xx errors

- i About this issue: A 4xx error means that a webpage cannot be accessed. This is usually the result of broken links. These errors prevent users and search engine robots from accessing your webpages, and can negatively affect both user experience and search engine crawlability. This will in turn lead to a drop in traffic driven to your website. Please be aware that crawler may detect a working link as broken if your website blocks our crawler from accessing it. This usually happens due to the following reasons: 1. DDoS protection system. 2. Overloaded or misconfigured server. How to fix: If a webpage returns an error, remove all links leading to the error page or replace it with another resource. To identify all pages on your website that contain links to a 4xx page, click "View broken links" next to the error page. If the links reported as 4xx do work when accessed with a browser, you can try either of the following: 1. Contact your web hosting support team. 2. Instruct search engine robots not to crawl your website too frequently by specifying the "crawl-delay" directive in your robots.txt

Invalid structured data items

i About this issue: This issue is triggered if structured data items contain fields that do not meet Google's guidelines <https://developers.google.com/search/docs/data-types/article>. Implementing and maintaining your structured data correctly is important if you want to get an edge over your competitors in search results. If your website markup has errors, crawlers will not be able to properly understand it, and you may run the risk of losing the chance of gaining rich snippets and getting more favorable rankings. For more information on the structured data requirements, see <https://schema.org>, Google documentation <https://developers.google.com/search/docs/data-types/article> or our article <https://www.semrush.com/kb/1084-structured-data-items-site-audit>. How to fix: Check structured data on your webpages with a validation tool. Please note that different markup testing tools may show different results. We recommend that you use the Rich Results Test tool <https://search.google.com/test/rich-results> to review and validate your pages' structured data against their rich snippet requirements.

Hreflang conflicts within page source code

- i About this issue: If you're running a multilingual website, it is necessary to help users from other countries find your content in the language that is most appropriate for them. This is where the hreflang (rel="alternate" hreflang="x") attribute comes in handy. This attribute helps search engines understand which page should be shown to visitors based on their location. It is very important to properly synchronize your hreflang attributes within your page's source code, otherwise you may experience unexpected search engine behavior. For more information, see this article <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/189077?hl=en>. How to fix: To avoid any conflicts, we recommend that you review your hreflang attributes within your page's source code and fix any of the following issues: 1. Conflicting hreflang and rel=canonical URLs. 2. Conflicting hreflang URLs. 3. No self-referencing hreflang URLs

Duplicate title tags

- i About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate title tags only if they are exact matches. Duplicate <title> tags make it difficult for search engines to determine which of a website's pages is relevant for a specific search query, and which one should be prioritized in search results. Pages with duplicate titles have a lower chance of ranking well and are at risk of being banned. Moreover, identical <title> tags confuse users as to which webpage they should follow. How to fix: Provide a unique and concise title for each of your pages that contains your most important keywords. For information on how to create effective titles, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

Duplicate content

- About this issue: Webpages are considered duplicates if their content is 85% identical. Having duplicate content may significantly affect your SEO performance. First of all, Google will typically show only one duplicate page, filtering other instances out of its index and search results, and this page may not be the one you want to rank. In some cases, search engines may consider duplicate pages as an attempt to manipulate search engine rankings and, as a result, your website may be downgraded or even banned from search results. Moreover, duplicate pages may dilute your link profile. How to fix. Here are a few ways to fix duplicate content issues: 1. Add a rel="canonical" link to one of your duplicate pages to inform search engines which page to show in search results. 2. Use a 301 redirect from a duplicate page to the original one. 3. Use a rel="next" and a rel="prev" link attribute to fix pagination duplicates. 4. Instruct GoogleBot to handle URL parameters differently using Google Search Console. 5. Provide some unique content on the webpage. ## Duplicate meta descriptions

- About this issue: Our crawler reports pages that have duplicate meta descriptions only if they are exact matches. A <meta description> tag is a short summary of a webpage's content that helps search engines understand what the page is about and can be shown to users in search results. Duplicate meta descriptions on different pages mean a lost opportunity to use more relevant keywords. Also, duplicate meta descriptions make it difficult for search engines and users to differentiate between different webpages. It is better to have no meta description at all than to have a duplicate one. How to fix: Provide a unique, relevant meta description for each of your webpages. For information on how to create effective meta descriptions, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>

Invalid robots.txt format

- i About this issue: If your robots.txt file is poorly configured, it can cause you a lot of problems. Webpages that you want to be promoted in search results may not be indexed by search engines, while some of your private content may be exposed to users. So, one configuration mistake can damage your search rankings, ruining all your search engine optimization efforts. How to fix: Review your robots.txt file and fix all errors, if there are any. You can check your file using Google's robots.txt Tester: <https://www.google.com/webmasters/tools/robots-testing-tool>. For information on how to configure your robots.txt, please see this article: https://developers.google.com/webmasters/control-crawl-index/docs/robots\_txt.

Incorrect pages found in sitemap.xml

- i About this issue: A sitemap.xml file makes it easier for crawlers to discover the pages on your website. Only good pages intended for your visitors should be included in your sitemap.xml file. This error is triggered if your sitemap.xml contains URLs that: 1. lead to webpages with the same content. 2. redirect to a different webpage. 3. return non-200 status code. Populating your file with such URLs will confuse search engines, cause unnecessary crawling or may even result in your sitemap being rejected. How to fix: Review your sitemap.xml for any redirected, non-canonical or non-200 URLs. Provide the final destination URLs that are canonical and return a 200 status code.

Unminified JavaScript and CSS files

- i About this issue: Minification is the process of removing unnecessary lines, white space and comments from the source code. Minifying JavaScript and CSS files makes their size smaller, thereby decreasing your page load time, providing a better user experience and improving your search engine rankings. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>. How to fix: Minify your JavaScript and CSS files. If your webpage uses CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to minify their files. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

Low text to HTML ratio

i About this issue: Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less. Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results. Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster. How to fix: Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

Low word count

i About this issue: This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200. The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines. Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts. For more information, please view this video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w3-obcXkyA4>. How to fix: Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.

Duplicate content in h1 and title

i About this issue: It is a bad idea to duplicate your title tag content in your first-level header. If your page's <title> and <h1> tags match, the latter may appear over-optimized to search engines. Also, using the same content in titles and headers means a lost opportunity to incorporate other relevant keywords for your page. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Try to create different content for your <title> and <h1> tags.

Uncompressed JavaScript and CSS files

i About this issue: This issue is triggered if compression is not enabled in the HTTP response. Compressing JavaScript and CSS files significantly reduces their size as well as the overall size of your webpage, thus improving your page load time. Uncompressed JavaScript and CSS files make your page load slower, which negatively affects user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings. If your webpage uses uncompressed CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, you should make sure they do not affect your page's load time. For more information, please see this Google article <https://developers.google.com/web/fundamentals/performance/optimizing-content-efficiency>. How to fix: Enable compression for your JavaScript and CSS files on your server. If your webpage uses uncompressed CSS and JS files that are hosted on an external site, contact the website owner and ask them to enable compression on their server. If this issue doesn't affect your page load time, simply ignore it.

Short title element

- i About this issue: Generally, using short titles on webpages is a recommended practice. However, keep in mind that titles containing 10 characters or less do not provide enough information about what your webpage is about and limit your page's potential to show up in search results for different keywords. For more information, please see this Google article: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: Add more descriptive text inside your page's <title> tag.

Missing h1

- i About this issue: While less important than <title> tags, h1 headings still help define your page's topic for search engines and users. If an <h1> tag is empty or missing, search engines may place your page lower than they would otherwise. Besides, a lack of an <h1> tag breaks your page's heading hierarchy, which is not SEO friendly. How to fix: Provide a concise, relevant h1 heading for each of your page.

Missing meta description

- i About this issue: Though meta descriptions don't have a direct influence on rankings, they are used by search engines to display your page's description in search results. A good description helps users know what your page is about and encourages them to click on it. If your page's meta description tag is missing, search engines will usually display its first sentence, which may be irrelevant and unappealing to users. For more information, please see these article: Create good titles and snippets in Search Results: <https://support.google.com/webmasters/answer/35624>. How to fix: In order to gain a higher click-through rate, you should ensure that all of your webpages have meta descriptions that contain relevant keywords.

- i About this issue: If a page cannot be accessed by search engines, it will never appear in search results. A page can be blocked from crawling either by a robots.txt file or a noindex meta tag. How to fix: Make sure that pages with valuable content are not blocked from crawling by mistake.

Pages with only one internal link

- >About this issue: Having few incoming internal links means little to no visits or chances of being placed in search results. All search engines use internal linking patterns to understand content importance and relationships within your site's knowledge network. Pages with few internal links may look less authoritative to AI algorithms and reduce your content's visibility and citation potential. How to fix: Add more incoming internal links to pages with important content.*
